

Lizard Care Sheets

Lizard Care Sheets Bearded Dragon Care Sheet

The inland bearded dragon is generally considered one of the all-time best lizard pets.

By Russ Case

Blue-Tongued Skink Care Sheet

Blue-tongued skinks are ideal for beginner herpers, as they have loads of personality and great dispositions.

By Phil Goss

Crested Gecko Care Sheet

Crested geckos are ideal reptile pets for beginners, with simple, easy- to-meet requirements.

By Philippe de Vosjoli and Allen Repashy

Crocodile Monitor Care Sheet

Crocodile monitors are endemic to the island of New Guinea and nearby islands where they are considered the top predator.

By Jerry Davis

Gargoyle Gecko Care Sheet

Gargoyle geckos were once considered among the rarest lizards in captivity. Today gargoyle geckos are bred in large numbers and have become standard in the pet trade.

By Philippe de Vosjoli and Allen Repashy

Giant Day Gecko Care Sheet

Giant day geckos have become popular in the reptile trade. Even mainstream advertisers have picked up on the likability of the species, hence the now-famous Geico Gecko, thought to be modeled after a day gecko..

By Jonathan D. Klarsfeld, DVM

Green Iguana Care Sheet

The green iguana is arguably the most common reptile in the pet trade today. These wonderful lizards make personable pets, but very few people who purchase them can meet the needs of an adult green iguana.

By Tom Crutchfield

Jackson's Chameleon Care Sheet

Jackson's chameleons are docile species that are great for all levels of chameleon keepers. These chameleons are amazing. Who wouldn't want their own baby triceratops around the house?

By Linda Davison

Knob-Tailed Gecko Care Sheet

Knob-tailed geckos are rapidly gaining popularity among reptilekeepers around the world. Native to Australia, these distinctive geckos are named for the small knob at the tip of their tail.

By Steve Sykes

Leopard Gecko Care Sheet

The leopard gecko has been captive bred in the United States for more than 30 years and is one of the most commonly kept lizards today.

By Ron Tremper

Panther Chameleon Care Sheet

Panther chameleons are one of the most colorful chameleon species available today.

By Chad New

Sailfin Dragon Care Sheet

Sailfin dragons intrigue anyone interested in dinosaurs. These prehistoric-looking lizards endowed with spikes and crests are truly magnificent beasts.

By Scott Corning

Uromastyx Lizard Care Sheet

Uromastyx are a genus of lizard in the agamid family, the same family that includes bearded dragons and frilled dragons, clown agamas and many other familiar lizards.

By Lindsay Pike