

Cricket Importance

A quick tip on this lizard's diet.

Most species of monitors will benefit from a diet that includes a high percentage of crickets. Crickets are a good source of protein, are not high in fat like rodents and provide much needed foraging exercise for captive monitors. An exclusive diet of too many rodents has been linked to obesity and related health problems in many captive monitors.