

Herp Conference Rescheduled

2008 Cutting Edge of Herpetoculture Conference rescheduled.

The organizers of the Cutting Edge of Herpetoculture Conference, originally scheduled to coincide with the San Diego Reptile Super Show this year, have decided to postpone the Cutting Edge Conference to 2009.

This will allow for an additional year of research and development in some specific areas the organizers are interested in researching and speaking about, and will afford them the opportunity to offer a wider variety of topics on which their speakers can present.

T-Rex Products continues to participate in the San Diego Reptile Super Show. For clarity, the Reptile Super Show will proceed on schedule. For more information, please click here.
